Ruthie's cottage at Nick's Cove on Tomales Bay.

1 SOMEDAY, I WANT TO... Own a cabin on the water

FOR NOW Settle for a glorious weekend at Nick's Cove in Marshall, California—prime Point Reyes real estate where a dozen private cottages stand on stilts along the shore of Tomales Bay. Wake up to fishermen casting off the rocks for halibut; brown pelicans skimming the surface of the barely lapping water; and a tray of warm muffins, fresh-squeezed juice, and French-pressed coffee delivered, with the morning paper, to your front porch. With woodstove fireplaces, overstuffed leather couches, and bathrooms boasting rain showerheads and heated floors, Nick's feels just like home—but better.
